

ANONYMOUS 17460 - New submission from Early Years Strategy - Public Submissions

- more support for postpartum depression
- better pay for teachers and early educators, however more stricter guidelines to ensure those teaching our children are qualified appropriately
- improved maternity leave; support parents regardless of gender and relationship title
- more support groups for parents; NOT 'mothers group' but parents group so all parents can feel more involved
- scrap the societal pressures on mums to bounce back to work
- support workplaces that have parents on 'maternity leave'
- first three years of our lives are so important to our brains development...emotional connection is vital. Parents should be supported in the option to provide this to their child
