

17242 - New submission from Early Years Strategy - Public Submissions

Mothers need more support financially to be able to choose when they want to go back to work. Some of my mum friends have gone back to work too early because the cost of living is so high. This has caused them depression and anxiety. Some have even stopped producing milk because they are away from their babies.