

Australian Government

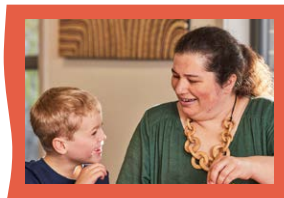

National Autism Strategy

Developing a National Autism Strategy

A National Autism Strategy is being developed to help autistic people across Australia have better opportunities in life.

Why it is important

It will help autistic people have better access to services, such as healthcare, and opportunities in education and employment.

Help shape the change

Autistic people, families and communities can have their say about what should be in the Strategy.

Find out more about how you can be involved at:
dss.gov.au/National-Autism-Strategy

